PUBLIC SALES AND HOW TO PREPARE FOR THEM

Written Especially for the Gazette and Republican by One Who Knows

The following suggestions are based partly on our own observations of successful and unsuccessful sales, and partly upon the experience of the auctioneers. They are intended to answer many questions that naturally arise, and it is hoped that they may be useful to all who contemplate holding public sales.

Time of Holding Sales.

The question often arises as to when a sale should be held. If properly conducted, a sale will be successful at any time of year from September 1 to May 1, although the holiday season should be avoided. The season of the corn harvest, which is a busy time for farmers, also may well be avoided.

October, November, February and March might be called the best months. In the first two months there is a great demand for stock to winter over and all live stock is generally in good condition to sell. New milch cows sell well at this time.

In February and March there is an especially good demand for horses for spring work. People who have moved from other localities also are ready to buy implements and supplies needed for the coming season. Stock is so far wintered as to show its condition. It is well to hold a spring sale early, as sales become very numerous toward the end of the season.

Any day in the week is good except Saturday. If the sale is to be held at a city or village, however. Saturday is sometimes preferred. The objection to Saturday also is less serious if the sale is at a point remote from any trading town.

No matter what the time of year, it is very rare that a sale properly advertised fails to bring good results.

Your Auctioneer.

As to your auctioneer, the only advice is: Get the best man you can. Get the best, even if you can get another man cheaper. It is better to nay $5 more for your auctioneer than to lose $100 on your sale.

It takes more than talk to make a good auctioneer. He must, it is true, be a ready and interesting speaker, but he must also be a good business man, a quick judge of human nature, and fully acquainted with the value of all kinds of property. He should be especially a good judge of live stock and able to explain roints of merit to his bidders. It goes without saving that he must be courteous and agreeable personally, and above all, honest and reliable. He must be fair and square with the buyers as well as with you. Get your auctioneer the first thing, for his name in your advertisement will help.

Your Clerk.

The selection of a clerk is also important. His resition is a responsible one, and he coucht to be a thorough and accurate business man with a large acquaintance. He also much be quick-witted so as to catch the bids instantly and not get confused. The name of a well-known man as clerk will help your sale.

Advertising Your Sale.

The most important thing connected with a sale is advertising it. Indeed that is practically the whole story. It makes all the difference between success and failure. Whether your sale is noor, fair, "pretty good," good, or extra good depends on how well you advertise it.

Fortunately the advertising of a sale in a Greene county has become a very simple matter because there are only two daily newsrapers in the county, and they combined have such a marvelous circulation that they reach practically every farm home in the county.

The result is that almost every sale in Greene county is advertised in the Xenia Gazette and Perublican, and the same is true of many sales in the nearby portions of adjoining counties.

It is of the utmost importance that ALL articles, except small tools, etc. be listed. You cannot tell which article will bring a bidder. A man may come miles to buy a $1 article, and when he gets there he may buy something also that he did not intend to buy when he left hame. The list of articles is the very life-blood of your advertisement. The moment you begin to cut out items, you begin to weaken your advertisement.

Generally speaking from one to two per cent of the value of your sale is the proper measure of your advertising expense. Perhaps 1 1-2 per cent would be the average.

Thus, if you have a $3,000 sale, about $40 or $45 would not be too much to spend on your advertising. On sales of $5,000 or $6,000 the proper amount to spend would be proper tionately more.

The bigger the sale, the bigger the risk, and the bigger the benefits of the advertising. It is necessary to have more bidders at a big sale than at a small one. That is why a big sale needs heavier advertising.

Heavy advertising of this sort has uniformly brought exceedingly good results, and in many cases the same parties have come back the next year with even larger space.

Pictures of Live Stock.

The Gazette and Republican have cuts of all kinds of live stock, for the use of its customers without extra charge. Many of these cuts have been specially made for the Gazette and Republican.

We will be pleased to prepare advertisements for customers and to assist them in every possible way.

Payment for advertising may be deferred un-

Payment for advertising may be deferred util after the sale if desired.

Use the telephone freely at our expense.

Protect Your Sale.

As soon as you know the date of your sale, it is a wise precaution to inform The Gazette and Republican, for then we probably can protect your sale by keeping other sales away from your neighborhood on that day. Otherwise another party with a different auctioneer may advertise his sale for the same day near enough to you to interfere periously with your sale. If we know your date we can usually steer the other party to another date that will not conflict, and one just as good for him

Making Up Your List.

This should be begun early and the list should be as full as possible. Don't be afraid of getting it too full, for the article you omit may be the very one that would bring some customer to bid. The reader always goes over the list in the paper carefully.

If a machine is new, or nearly new, or in good condition, or if an animal or article is extra good, specify the fact; give the weight of the horses and their ages unless they are very old.

Have your list made out when you go to arrange for your advertising, don't trust to memory.

Credit and Discount.

Make the term of credit long enough. At a fall sale a year is not too long; at a spring sale at least nine months. It is almost the invariable custom to make the notes bear 6 per cent interest from date.

It is not necessary to offer a discount for cash. A man who can pay ready money generally will do so, and strangers coming from a distance almost always have the money with them. Moreover, those who are able to pay cash can usually give a bankable note.

Have a supply of printed blank promissory notes, which you can buy for a few cents at any book store, and fill them out in advance, writing in the rate of interest, name of payee, and place where payable so that nothing will he necessary on the day of sale except to fill in the amount and have the signer write his name. Usually such notes are made payable at some bank, and the bank you deal with will gladly furnish you with all the blank notes you need.

On the Day of Sale.

Prepare for your sale by getting everything in the best possible shape, and don't wait till the morning of the sale to do it.

Have all loose property gathered together. Auctioneers sometimes have to hunt up things in the fence corners with the crowd tagging after them. Have all implements clean and arranged in a half circle, so the auctioneer will always have the crowd in front of him, and not on all sides and behind him.

Have horses well groomed, and a good man to show them in the ring.

Do not have any animals in the ring except the one that is being sold.

Be sure to have halters on hand for every

Be sure to have halters on hand for every horse sold. Have records of all bred animals. Have harnesses clean, and when they are offered have them on the horses. They look much better than when lying in a heap.

Have cows and young cattle clean and in good condition. Also have them tagged and numbered, which is a great convenience and will prevent mistakes and disputes.

Sheep should be graded and divided into small flocks of 10 to 25, always in clean pens.

Hogs should be in clean, roomy pens, 2 to 6 in a pen; never try to sell them in a small building.

Have all live stock in clean surroundings, and easy of access.

Provide crates for fowls and sell the coops with the fowls; many a bid is lost because parties have no way of taking home the fowls.

Give the auction eer plenty of help in handling the articles to be sold, for delays are annoying and damaging.

Provide plenty of good ink and pens and an ample supply of small change for the clerk.

Another good idea is to have a good outdoor fire when the sale is held in cold weather, where the crowd can warm their hands.

Carry out your sale exactly as advertised. Side bidding never pays and almost invariably injures the sale. It is quickly detected, and when once known your sale may be spoiled. Make an open sale: property sold without reserve will always bring fair value.

Don't omit having a lunch, unless the sale is a short one. Give everybody a cup of hot coffee, and all he wants to eat and you will not be sorry. Nothing conduces so much to comfort and good humor, and a man bids most readily when in good humor. Be good natured yourself, keep your temper and your head level, attend to your business and let the auctioneer do the talking, and your sale will be a success.

Bills Going Out of Use.

It is safe to say that nobody in Greene county nowadays would think of depending on bills alone to advertise a sale. The reasons are obvious.

The bills reach only a few hundreds; The Gazette and Republican reach five thousand families.

The bill covers a limited section; The Gazette and Republican cover every part of the county.

The bill is seen only by people when they go away from home; The Gazette and Republican reaches them in their homes in all weather. The bill makes the busy man stop when he is in a hurry, and maybe he has to get out his glasses; The Gazette and Republican ad. finds him at leisure in a comfortable chair.

The bill must be posted and distributed—a long job for a man and rig; The Gazette and Republican carries the ad. into five thousand homes all at once, without extra cost or trou-

Another reason the bill is not so popular, and has lost most of the value it did have, is that about 75 out of every 100 public sales are advertised in full in the Gazette and Republican and people pay little attention to bills now. When they see one they say to themselves: "No use stopping to read that long list; it will all be in the Gazette or Republican and I can read it at home."

The bill, therefore, has largely gone out of use, except along the edges of the county.

Shall I Use Bills Also?

It is safe to say that not one man in twenty would think of holding a sale in this county without using the Gazette and Republican, but the question is sometimes asked:

"Had I better use bills in addition to my advertisement?"

That depends on your location. If you are anywhere near the center of the county, it is a waste of time and money to bother with bills, because The Gazette and Republican reach practically every house within driving distance of your place. For this reason bills have largely gone out of use in the heart of the county. But if you live on the edge of the county, or in one corner of the county, you can use bills to advantage across the border in the adjoining county, and for this purpose we give you sufficient small ones free with your ad.

If the bills are used, they should not be posted more than eight days before the saic. Put them up carefully, and when placed out doors use paste, when possible, to prevent their being washed away or whipped to pieces.

With your sale advertised in The Gazette and Republican don't try to cover the country with bills, for that is unnecessary—The Gazette and Republican do that for you. Don't waste your time driving over bad roads, but hang up your bills in stores, mills, elevators, postoffices and railway stations.

A Very Important Point.

In advertising your sale remember that it is necessary to cover the whole county to get the best results. A local village paner may advertise your sale well enough for the immediate vicinity, but that is not enough. Your sale is not a neighborhood affair. Your neighbors will know about it anyway. You want the bidders that come, 10, 12, 15, and 20 miles, the strangers with the cash in their pockets.

To get these men, you must put your advertisement in a newspaper that covers the whole county. There is only one way to do it in Greene county—use the Gazette and Republican.

There are 6,000 homes in Greene county and the Gazette and Republican are read in over 5,000 of them. If you used every one of the half dozen other papers in the county, you would not reach as many separate homes as you can reach every day through the Gazette and Republican. No matter what part of the county you live in, The Gazette and Republican reaches more farmers in driving distance of your place than any other newspaper, or any combination of newspapers.

Another reason why you cannot afford to stay out of The Gazette and Republican, is because they have come to be regarded as the "sale papers" and farmers all look to them for sale news, knowing that practically every sale is advertised there.

Don't be "Penny Wise."

Remember that all your goods are to be sold at one time and upon that one day depends whether you make or lose perhaps several hundred dollars. A few dollars expense is nothing compared with having your sale well advertised.

If a merchant is going to have a sale where he expects to sell $1,000 worth of goods, he does not hesitate to spend $30 in advertising it. Yet he is in business 365 days every year. His store is being advertised all the time, and if his sale is not a success he can make good the loss later on. If your sale is not successful, you can never make good the loss, because you are in the selling business for only one day.

Don't forget this point: If you advertise your sale thoroughly, you will know that you have done your best, and you will always be satisfied. If you skimp on the advertising and save a few dollars and your sale is not satisfactory you will always blame yourself for not spending a little more money and doing it RIGHT.

REMEMBER

Your eggs are all in one basket.

You have $500 or $1,000 or $10,000 worth of property all to be sold on ONE day.

Without a crowd your goods will sell at a

With a good crowd you may make hundre of dollars.

One bidder may make you enough money to pay all your advertising and your auction-eer besides.

A few dollars is NOTHING compared with the risk you run in selling a thousand dollars' worth of property.

The question is not "Can I afford it?" but rather, "Dare I take any Chances?"

WHEN PEACE NEWS COMES

In a delirium of joy, Xenia eclebrated the report of the end of the war.

Swept by a wave upon wave of enthusiasm, citizens, irrespective of class or color, mingled together in a panic of emotion, that never spent itself until sheer bodily weariness forced upon the excited multitudes a cessation of hilarious jollification.

The celebration commenced with the first flash of the news over the city when the Gazette and Republican posted the bulletin giving word of the surrender of Germany to the heering crowds within a remarkably short space of time had filled the streets. Automobiles hurriedly decorated, and laden with crowds that blared tin trumpets, and excitedly waved flags, tore about the streets.

Deciding to have the jollification take some definite form, city officials arranged for an impromptu procession to take place at 2 o'clock. Mer chants and manufacturers, hastily notified, agreed to close their places of business in order that their employees and themselves could take in the merrymaking over the se of the five years of world-wide

Never in the history of Xenia has such another scene taken place. Fallng in behind a band made up of musicians hastily gathered together, most of them without uniforms, men, women and children of all classes marched afoot, followed by dozens upon dozens of decorated automobiles trucks, and cars of all description.

It is believed that 2000 persons tool part in the impromptu parade. The principal streets were traversed amid scenes of remarkable enthusiasm, and then, led by city officials the paraders turned in upon the court house lawn, marching past and saluting the great flag hanging before the Main

Commission, stopped the procession in front of the court house, and the crowd gathered about as the band played patriotic airs. Then the multitude sang, "America," the notes of the great anthem soaring out upon the air of the soft autumn afternoon, from throats trembling with emotion and hoarse with the continued shouting in the joy of victory.

As the singing closed, three mighty cheers went up from the multitude. President Charters then announced that the men of the two army training units at Wilberforce University were on their way to Xenia to take part in the celebration, and he proposed that he crowd follow the band to the head of Church street to meet the soldier

Again the line of march was taken

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication-which means selfpoisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, de spondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins

A glass of hot water with a teaspoon ful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

XENIA YOUNG MEN, BOTH FIRST LIEUTENANTS, ARE NOW IN FRANCE Don't Put It Off

Lieutenants John G. Baldner and J. William Shadrach, Xenia boys who are both in the aviation service in France, are shown in the acompanying picture, Lieutenant Shadrach who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shadrach, of North Detroit street, refused an opportunity to return home, which was given him owing to the fact that he lost one of his eyes in an airplane accident, and in a recent etter which was received by his family, he said that he expected soon to be on his way to the front. He has obtained an artiicial eye, and has completely regained his health. He has been at Blois much of the time.

Lieutenant Baldner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Baldner of East Church street, is at the flying school at Tours and has been acting as a pilot for observers. Lieutenant Robert Adair is also situated at this flying field, and he is an airplane observer. In a letter to his family, Lieutenant Baldner says that their work at Tours is interferred with to an extent owing to the fog and mists, two receivers being located in the vicinity.

entire strength of the two army units and the personnel of the academic youths at the college with their offiers, commissioned and non commissioned, in soldierly lines marched through the city headed by their band, with the local band increasing citizens marching strength. As the column returned to the center of the city, a halt was made at the Detroit street entrance of the court house, where several patriotic and army songs were sung by the soldiers. Then they marched back to the university.

The appearance of the khaki uniforms upon the briskly marching, soldierly men, was an occasion for added enthusiasm, and the soldier lads were cheering luhtily as they marched. Not content with the afternoon' hilarity, the crowd broke forth again after supper, and again the band led on enthusiastic, noisy, cheering crowd

XENIA MARKETS PUBLIC SALE advertising in the Gazette and Republican bring the crowds. In the days of automobiles, the farmer has no time to stop along the road to read sale bills. He is coming to depend upon these papers to notify him of the sale dates and articles to be offered for sale. It's the buyer from a distance who sees your ad in this paper, who jumps into his auto and hustles to your sale, who pays what your stuff is worth. Your neighbor no longer can stand around and pick off what he needs at an absurd price, as he does when you have not properly advertised, and gotten a good crowd. Use the Gazette and Republican if you want the worth of everything you offer. Don't try to save on your advertising.

A hut is your fighter's home over there. It is his store, his theatre, his church, his school and his club.

It is the place where he writes your letters.

It is the place where he reads his books and magazines, where he and his friends get around a piano and sing or listen to a phonograph.

It is the place where all the movies are given, and the concerts and the minstrel shows and vaudeville. Often it is the only place within reach that is dry and light and warm and clean.

A hut may be a shed or tent or a fine old chateau or a hotel. Sometimes, at the front, it's just a battered little shack—the only building left standing in town.

On the fighting line, it's just a board laid across two boxes with a sign nailed to a tree.

The sign doesn't matter—it's what the but gives your fighter.

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever street for since the world began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

MRS. CLAYBORNE ARRIVES; RUTH AND BRIAN MEET HER.

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

The next day Ruth was visibly appy and excited.

Something's happened! that fool susband of hers has been promising something; or doing something to make her happy," Arthur Mandel said to himself.

He was soon to know. "Mr. Mandel, I am going to ask a avor," Ruth said during a lull in the morning's business.

'It is granted," he smiled at her. "Wait until you know what it is," she returned. Her voice carried a joy-ous lilt. "I want to remain at home all day Saturday, please, unless you need me for something important."

"No indeed! but may I ask what it s that is going to happen on Saturday? You look so happy. No one has left you a great fortune, have they, so making you leave me altogether?"

"Oh, no! my aunt, Mrs. Clayborne, who mothered me always, is coming.' Then, impelled by the interest in his eyes fixed upon her, she added: "You know she wouldn't come because I displeased her by taking a position. She is a little old-fashioned in her ideas of what is proper for a woman to do! and while she has written me regularly, she has refused to visit me because of my work."

"No wonder you want Saturday. Don't you want Monday, as well?' "No thank you. She may as well get accustomed to the idea of having a working woman for a niece. But I thought it would be rather lonely if I left her to-morrow, as she does not get in until seven o'clock to-night."

"How would this do for a quickly conceived plan? You work only mornings while she is here. Then you can lunch and shop and matinee to-

"Didn't I propose it?" He was pleased that he could give her so nuch pleasure as he evidently had by is thoughtful arrangement.

"I am going to ask something more." "Very well. It is also granted." "If Aunt Louisa will-she may re-he indicated the shop. "She would not if she knew you." The words were spoken without thought, and Ruth blushed violently as she realized that perhaps Mandel would think they meant more than she had intended But with his usual sang froid, he bowed and replied:

"I hope she will be persuaded." Buth was delighted with the plan he had outlined for her. Her aunt never had been an early riser. Rachel would take her breakfast to her room long after she and Brian had left the house. Then her aunt would slowly dress-as was her custom-and amuse herself by reading, or taking a short walk until luncheon time Then, too, she would have Rachel with her, and the Ruth knew the old negress would he questioned, she really had no fear she would tell anything that would Dinner was postnoned that night until seven-thirty. Brian came home at the usual time and "tiltivated up" as he called it.

Why This Is Safe

The Preferred Stock issued on this big farm is only $400,000, a little less than $30.00 an acre, and this covers farm and improvements; and no bonds or mortgages can be placed ahead of the preferred stock without the consent of the preferred stockholders. All incorporation proceedings have been under the direction of the well known lègal firm of Burkhart, Heald & Pickrell, Dayton, Ohio; and all title approvals by Richard Sassanet, Abstractor, Jacksonville, Fla.; George F. Osler, Cincinnati, Ohio, and O. O. McCollum, Attorney, Jacksonville, Fla.

It is not enough that assets behind a preferred stock issue be safe at the time of issue without regard to the future. The assets behind preferred stock should constantly increase in value and add to the safety of the pre-

Any one familiar with increases in farm land in the United States knows that not only is the Preferred Stock of Walkill Farms safe today, but that it will be safe and have a larger value behind it one year from today, five years from today and ten years from today.

The plain fact of the matter is that the greatest source of wealth in most parts of Ohio-a comparison that would hold good with any manufacturing district-has been the increase in value of farm lands; large and safe profits have been realized from the increase in land values.

Walkill 7% Participating Preferred Stock is safe. It is backed by good farm lands, advantageously located, and has increased in value since it was acquired by the corporation, and will go on increasing in value just as other

Preferred Stock That Is Participating

There are few men who read who are not cognizant of the fact that the eyes of the nation are upon the South as a coming livestock producing section of the United

The Breeders' Gazette in many issues in the last year, the United States Government in numerous bulletins and The Country Gentleman, published by the same reliable company that publishes The Saturday Evening Post and Ladies' Home Journal, of October 26th and November 2nd have called attention in detail to the revolutionary change that has come in cattle and hog production in the

The Walkill Preferred Stock stipulates that 7% first be paid to the Preferred Stockholders and then 7% to the Common Stockholders and after that any other dividends paid must be divided equally between the Preferred and Common Stockholders.

To earn the Preferred Stock Dividend requires an earning of only $2.00 an acre; and on both the Preferred and Common requires only an earning of $3.00 an acre, and anyone versed in farm operation today knows that this is a very light requirement and that the farm that cannot earn from twelve to fifteen dollars an acre is a very poor farm or very badly managed.

There is only one way to get the largest profit that will be realized from this revolutionary livestock development, and that is through a Participating Preferred Stock that will give the holder a constant dividend and a further share in the profit.

Space will not permit further presentation of a situa-tion that has come from a ten to twelve-month pasture season, or the ability to grow crops the year around; or the increase in farrowings because of no ice or snow, or the plentiful supply of good labor at a reasonable cost. We will be pleased to present these facts to any one in-

Only a cattle man or a hog man would realize what it would mean and what it does mean on Walkill Farm to have five artesian wells that throw the water 22 feet in the air and make it possible to supply cattle feeding lots, farrowing houses and finishing pens with abundant, pure water without pumps or any other than natural pressure, Walkill Farms has a number of running streams and in addition has the advantage of water from these wells.

In brief, Walkill Farm answers the requirements of the model stock farm of today. It is big enough to make it possible to afford good management: A $1,500-a-year hog man looking after a 3,000-a-year hog production is far cheaper than a cheap man looking after 100 hogs a year. It is fertile, productive land, well drained, yet well supplied with water. It has ideal shipping and railroad conditions. It has the two elements necessary for an exceptional investment-SAFETY and PROFIT.

Your Opportunity In the Final Offering of this High Class Security.

Three-fourths of this Preferred Stock has been absorbed by Ohio men-Ohio farmers and business

The remainder of the issue of Preferred Stock will be quickly absorbed in response to this final announcement offering.

This is a patriotic investment and has been passed by the Capital Issues Committee of the United States Government at Washington as "not incompatible with the National interest."

Beef, Pork and Bullets are very closely associated. To the man who wants to get rich over night this will not be of interest, but the thinking man who wants a Safe Investment, a steady income and a further share in profits of operation and increase in land value will be interested. Full particulars will be sent upon request.
